

John Livesley, Prof., Canada
University of British Columbia

Biography

John Livesley is Professor Emeritus and former Head of the Department of Psychiatry, University of British Columbia. He is also an Editor Emeritus of the Journal of Personality Disorders. Dr. Livesley has contributed extensively to the literature on personality disorder, with publications including the edited volumes The DSM-IV Personality Disorders and the Handbook of Personality Disorders. His research focuses on the classification, assessment, and origins of personality disorder, and his clinical interests center on an integrated approach to treatment based on current empirical knowledge.